

Your wedding in beautiful photographs

My name is Mike Silve and my aim is simple - to tell the story of your wedding day through beautiful photographs.

I'll be with you throughout all of your day from the Bridal preparations through to the ceremony, wedding breakfast and evening celebrations.

I'll record the events, the people, the location, the tears, the laughter and all the little details that you will have put effort into making the day special to you.

My desire is to put together a collection of images that will be a lasting record of the events of your day and all those family and friends that came to celebrate with you, all presented in a beautifully made Italian wedding album to be enjoyed by generations to come.

I never forget that it is your day so I take time to listen to your thoughts and expectations to give you images that will be a joyful record of the wedding celebrations.

Simply put, I cover everything, try to be unobtrusive, take loads of pictures, make it fun and most importantly tell the story.
